

Dismissed With Prejudice

by: Steve Malone, President

Today September 9, 2022, Judge Hannah, dismissed with prejudice the case brought by Dreamland Villa Retirement Community's legal counsel on behalf of Pagano and Sharp against defendants Malone, Jennings, Pawloski Sr., Canino, and Hanks. The judge had determined on August 22, 2022, that Pagano and Sharp were the parties of interest, requiring them to be named plaintiffs of the suit and ordered them to provide their own legal counsel not the Council of Dreamland Villa.

Pagano and Sharp chose not to become plaintiffs, therefore the case could not move forward. The key point in the decision is the fact that the judge accepted the request by the defendants to dismiss with prejudice. Meaning that a similar case with the same facts cannot be brought back to court against the defendants. It is over and done.

This ends the challenge of who the Board of Directors are for Dreamland Villa. The members spoke on July 16th and recalled Pagano and Sharp. Cohrt had resigned on the 14th of July.

So, the members have spoken, now it is time for us to move on. We must set aside any grievances and work together to improve our community. This will not be easy and there will be bumps in the road but if we do not try, we will fail. Your Board of Directors will continue to work hard every day to mend the wounds created by this entire situation.

It is my hope the entire community will think about the good of Dreamland Villa Retirement Community and not personal animosity or biases. The only way to accomplish this is by working together.

Can we count on your support?
